| 0203 | Chetham, James: The Angler's Vade Mecum or a Compendious Yet Full Discourse of Angling. 1681, printed for Thos. Bassett, London, FIRST EDITION., 166 pp, table, appendix, erratta. 19th century full calf binding. All edges gilt. Some early manuscript notes on seven pages, all but two confined to the margins. Some early ink lines on title page. THIS COPY WAS ONCE OWNED BY ANDREW LANG WHO PRESENTED IT TO J. W. HILLS AND THE BOOK IS INSCRIBED AS SUCH. This work was published anonymously. Chetham was not ashamed to have written it but preferred the book to be remembered for its content rather than just the name. He advocated fishing upstream in clear water with the natural fly, but down stream when in murky waters using an artificial fly. G. E. M. Skues wrote of this book "A really brilliant piece of work". J. W. Hills considered Chethams fly dressings to be the best of his contemporaries.   | £ 5,500.00 |
| 0204 | Chetham, James: The Angler's Vade Mecum or a Compendious yet Full Discourse of Angling. 1689, London, 2nd edn, illus. with sculptures and very much enlarged. 2 eng.plts. of fish, 326pp, table and advert leaf. 2 book plates, 1 being hand coloured. Original full calf binding, early skilful rebacking. Some light damp staining to front end paper. Top edge of title page repaired. Small portion missing on inner hinge of advert leaf which also has an early ink mark. However, apart from these faults, a crisp clean copy.  | £ 1,150.00 |
| 0205 | Chetham, James: The Angler's Vade Mecum: or, A Compendious, Yet Full, Discourse of Angling: Discovering the Aptest Methods and Ways. 1700, London, Third Edition Very much Enlarged. Printed for William Battersby. This edition does not call for the two sculptures of fish as in the more frequently found third edition. The preface is of a different type face and the Table has eight pages (instead of the normal seven) and is of a different composition. This edition also contains a different advertisement being an advert for Will Brown as the Sign of the Fish in Black Horse Alley. The other third edition has an advert for books. Original full calf binding, 19th century rebacking. One page has a repair to the outer margin and this results in a loss of five letters. These have been filled in with black ink. Another page has a repair to the top right hand corner. The last blank leaf has a manuscript recipe for powdering mushrooms, dated August 1726. | £ 210.00   |
